SALT LAKE ROUTE ADMITS PLAN TO ENTER THIS CITY

SUBMIT, RATIFY AMENDMENT FOR SUFFRAGE, IS HUGHES' WORD

G. O. P. Nominee Declares For Constitution Change On Woman Vote

SAYS QUESTION OUGHT TO BE SETTLED SOON

Wilson Stands to Lose Four Million Votes In West, Says Anne Martin

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Charles E. Hughes today declared for a suffrage amendment to the constitution in a telegram to George Southerland of Utah.

"My view is that the proposed amendment should be submitted and ratified," Hughes' wire said.

The telegram which evoked Hughes' suffrage declaration follows:

"You will no doubt recall our conversation of a few days ago when I urged you make to the public your views regarding the suffrage federal amendments."

"I feel quite sure that there is nothing in the Republican platform which will in any manner conflict with such a declaration. The platform commits the party to the principle of equal suffrage and recognizes the right of each state to determine the question for itself. Therefore it leaves everybody in the party free to determine for himself. I think it most important that you as soon as possible state publicly your personal opinion on the subject."

(Signed) GEORGE SOUTHERLAND, Hughes replied as follows:

"I did not refer to the proposed Federal amendment in my notification speech. I have no objection, however, to stating my personal views. As I said in my speech, I think it most desirable that the question of woman suffrage be settled promptly. The question is of such a nature that it should be settled for all the country. My view is that the proposed amendment should be submitted and ratified and the subject removed from political discussion."

(Signed) CHAS. E. HUGHES.

BISHOP TO SPEAK FROM PLATFORM WITH GOV. JOHNSON

Enthusiastic Reception Promised Chief Executive Next Thursday Evening

Clyde Bishop, who has come out openly for Governor Johnson, will be one of the speakers at the big meeting to be held at the Opera House Thursday night. Rev. J. A. Stevenson will preside, Dr. C. D. Ball calling the meeting to order and introducing the chairman.

An enthusiastic reception awaits Governor Johnson upon his arrival in this city Thursday on his campaign for nomination for United States Senator. The governor will deliver an address at the Opera House at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Keen disappointment has been felt in Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton by the cancellation of speaking dates in those cities.

Indications are that large delegations from those cities will attend the night meeting here.

The local committee has not yet been advised of the exact hour at which the governor will arrive in this city. There is no information as to whether he will travel by train or auto. The impression is that he will come up from San Diego on the noon train.

The committee appointed by the Johnson-for-Senator Club to make arrangements for the appearance of the chief executive of the state in this city, will meet tomorrow evening and complete details.

Prominent people from this city and other sections of the county will be invited to occupy seats on the stage. A reception committee will also be appointed to meet the governor when he arrives. If he comes by automobile the committee will meet him outside the city and escort him here.

The governor will be assigned to quarters at the Rossmore hotel.

OFFICIAL BARES NEWS DEALS IN PROPERTY ARE MADE FOR RY. WAY RIGHT

Reason to Believe Line Will Be In Operation Five Months Hence

ROAD WILL USE ESPEE TRACKS FROM ANAHEIM

New System Will Give Santa Ana Another Transcontinental Line

It is the Salt Lake.

The identity of the corporation which Warren F. McGrath and B. E. Newcomb have been representing in their negotiations for property in, this city, Fullerton, Anaheim and other points in Orange county, is no longer a secret.

A Salt Lake official admitted to a Register representative today that the men bought the property for a right of way into this city for the Salt Lake.

He was not in position to state when dirt would commence to fly.

With less than fifteen miles of road to build to reach Santa Ana, there is every reason to believe that the road will be delivering passengers and freight in this city before the first day of 1917—five months hence.

It will give Santa Ana another transcontinental line.

Santa Ana will be the terminal, for the present at least.

Effort may be made later to continue the line to Newport harbor or San Diego, but so far as could be learned today, the attempt will not be in the immediate future.

Into La Habra Valley

The branch to Santa Ana will leave the main line of the Salt Lake at Pico station, a short distance west and north of Whittier.

The right of way will run west of Whittier into the La Habra Valley and through that fertile valley to Fullerton, to a point just north of the Santa Fe depot at that place. Here it will turn east for a couple of blocks, cross the Santa Fe tracks, and parallel the latter on the west side to Anaheim, passing west of the Santa Fe depot at Anaheim to a point where a transfer track is maintained between the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Use Espee Tracks

The Southern Pacific tracks will be used from Anaheim to Santa Ana, the Salt Lake coming into town over its own right of way from a point between Seventeenth street and Washington avenue—probably about Fourteenth street.

The line will follow along the west side of Polinsetta street south to Sixth street, when it breaks through the center of the block between Garfield and Breeden and continues on a direct line south to Chestnut avenue, bordering Cedar street on the west side south from First. The right of way along Cedar was the last acquired, ownership passing only the early part of this month. Purchases from Mrs. C. E. French and S. B. Stambaugh completed the latter part of the right of way.

To Build Depot

It is the ambition of the company to secure a right of way for at least a mile farther south, but it is intimated that it will be in no hurry to acquire this.

The company now owns the square running east from Garfield street to the glazed building-block tenement owned by W. J. Pilcher and north and south from Fourth to Third.

The depot will be erected at the corner of Garfield and Fourth on this property. A magnificent structure will be erected, it is reported—one that will cause local residents to point it out with pride, and one that will be a source of gratification to the railroad company.

The freight yards will be located on the north side of Fourth, on property bought from Paul Knaf and others.

The Salt Lake has long had its eye on this city.

BUSSES TO TAKE PLACE OF P. E. CARS IN WAR ON JITNEYS

Parallel Present Lines With Stages and Branch Out, Is Plan In View

Saturday a Register representative had an interview with the secretary of president Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric system, in regard to their future plans as to competition with the auto stages. While the conversation was with the secretary, Mr. Shoup was within hearing distance, and did not modify in any way statements made.

The railroads realize that rail lines cannot in any appreciable way furnish the service rendered by auto busses and trucks running over the public roads. For this reason, and because the busses are cutting into the railroad revenues to such an extent, the Pacific Electric, for one, has decided to try busses on its own account. Already they have built six fine auto stages, painted to conform with their cars in crimson lake with gold striping. These are purely for a tryout. Two have already been sent to Fresno, to furnish service with East Fresno. Two of them will be sent this week to Santa Monica, and the other two will be held for use wherever required.

It was explained that it is much cheaper to haul passengers by auto than by trains. So they intend to take off trains one by one—as possible—and substitute busses therefor. They will for the present keep their regular fares, and expect to win out by better autos and superior service. It is also their intention to bring the matter of stage service before the Legislature this winter, and try to have all put under the Public Utilities Act. They do not think it fair for any line to have to pay a separate license in each town through which they may pass; but think it best for all concerned that each and every bus should pay the state on a mileage and tonnage basis, these amounts to be applied to the construction and maintenance of good and better roads.

While the secretary would not admit that the day of old-style transportation was entirely past, and that a new order of things had begun, nevertheless he was willing to admit that there was room for improvement. In fact, he was willing to admit that the lines of steel rails were the web of a giant spider, entangled in whose meshes they were becoming more and more powerless. Stage service under the Public Utilities Act would solve the problem for them.

He further stated that if the present cars were not satisfactory they would try some other style before going into the business on a large scale. The new cars are practically Reos, with some modifications in the chassis, and bodies built from their own designs. If successful, they will build enough to parallel their own lines and also put their own stages on every highway where other busses are now running.

Asked about building into Fullerton, he said that a certain amount had already been set aside to purchase right-of-way in case it could not be procured free. Surveyors were at work, and construction would be pushed as rapidly as possible.

DEPARTED FOR EAST TO REMAIN; RETURNED IN JUST AN EVEN 31 DAYS

"It's me back to California!" This was the exclamation of J. C. Breckenridge, 113 South Sycamore, within ten days after reaching Sparta, Ill., where he went with a view to remaining.

He arrived home last night, just thirty-one days after he left here determined to shake the dust of Santa Ana off his boots for good and all. He left here the first of July. He is glad to renew the acquaintance of Santa Ana, and the charming city never looked so good to him as when he stepped off the train and was greeted by his delighted relatives.

He will roam from Santa Ana—"never more."

The heat—and it was some warm at Sparta—was too much for him. He feels cold in Santa Ana. And yet it is just a trifle warm here today.

In the good old days, when Breckenridge was younger—and when he had no knowledge of the delights of Santa Ana climate—the excessive heated spells in Sparta concerned him not.

But—he has lived in Santa Ana for some time, and it has spoiled him; he has in a measure lost interest in his old home town.

The Hot Weather Is Upon Us at Last

And if you don't equip your lawn with an Automatic Sprinkling System you'll have to spend many hours sprinkling it with the hose to keep it looking fresh and green.

And your time is worth money. Besides, you'll get your feet wet, and ruin your clothes and shoes and be at constant expense for hose and couplings and sprinklers etc.

You can't get away from the fact that there's economy as well as comfort and convenience and cleanliness in an Automatic Sprinkling System.

Because, in addition to the savings noted above, you save one-third of your water bill.

We install Automatic Sprinkling Systems that give satisfaction.

They are built scientifically—the pipes laid above ground and tested, so as to get the exact spread of the water under various pressures, etc., and then they are sunk beneath the surface.

And we restore your lawn to perfect condition, don't leave it all "hilled" and "hollowed"

4 IMPERILED AS TROLLEY CAR HITS AUTO

The lives of four persons were imperiled when an automobile, driven by J. F. Pease of 293 Molino street, Long Beach, was struck by a Pacific Electric local car shortly after 10 o'clock this morning at the intersection of Fourth and Bush streets. Miss Lucy Ross, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ross of 102 Torre Pine street, Long Beach, both of whom were in the automobile with Pease, sustained a slight contusion of the forehead. The others in the car escaped without a scratch or bruise.

Pease was crossing Fourth street, approaching from the north. The P. E. car was coming from the east. Seeing that he did not have time enough to cross ahead of the trolley car, Pease tried to put on his brakes. The brake bands, freshly oiled, refused to work.

The trolley car crashed into the automobile, carrying it along for a distance of about ten feet before the motorman succeeded in bringing his car to a stop.

Miss Ross was hurled against the supports of the automobile top and her forehead was somewhat painfully, though not seriously, bruised.

The trolley struck the automobile on the left side, crushing the running board and badly damaging the body. The spokes of the two front wheels, giving way as the car was being shoved toward the west, were demolished.

CAMP INWOOD TO UNIFY GERMANY ON PEACE IS LAUNCHED BY KAISER

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—The Kaiser today inaugurated a speech-making propaganda throughout Germany to unify the empire on Germany's peace terms and to prepare the public mind for peace.

Under the auspices of the German National Committee, an organization having the approval of the official censors, fifty well known German orators will make the same speech in fifty German cities today. The speech is unofficially known to represent Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's peace-term views.

The speech is being awaited with the keenest interest by both friends and foes of Dr. Hollweg.

This propaganda may mark the beginning of re-established friendly relations between the chancellor and those with whom he has politically disagreed on the conduct of the war. Dr. Hollweg is the man who engineered the ousting of Grand Admiral von Tirpitz and his submarine warfare campaign and kept friendly relations with the United States when a break seemed imminent.

It is known that the moderate, conservative, National-Liberal and Catholic elements have been striving to make a reconciliation between the chancellor and the Pan-German element.

MAINTENANCE OF COUNTY PAVED ROADS $48.50 PER YEAR

Highway Commission Expresses Satisfaction With Way Surfacing Wears

The ordinary miscellaneous maintenance of the 135 miles of paved roads in Orange county cost an average of $48.50 a mile during the last year.

That is one item found in a report of expenditures upon good roads maintenance made to the Board of Supervisors by the Orange County Highway Commission for the year ending June 30, 1916. Since June bills were paid in July, the annual report was delayed until the present time.

The highway commission expresses itself as well pleased with the crushed rock and oil surfacing that was placed upon the paved roads. It is declared that the surfacing has proven to be more satisfactory than was thought likely.

During the year $14,650.16 was expended, much of it in equipment. The report to the Board of Supervisors follows:

Gentlemen: We hereby submit the following statement of receipts and disbursements of the good road fund for the year ending June 30, 1916.

This fund, placed in our hands, by you, for use in maintaining the paved roads constructed under the bond issue, has been handled as economically as possible. The small amount expended, we believe, will bear out our statement.

Balance July 1, 1916 $ 6,196.94

As will be seen from the above figures there was expended during the last year on maintenance of the good road system the sum of $14,650.16.

Of this amount $2428 was invested in equipment, the most of which is serviceable for future use, and $5900 was spent on repairs of concrete pavement and damage caused directly by excessive floods of last winter.

Average $48.50

Deducting the above items, less depreciation, leaves $6550 expended on ordinary miscellaneous maintenance and repairs of 135 miles of paved roads, or an average of $48.50 per mile. While this amount has been held down to such a nominal sum for the last year, an equal amount will not be sufficient for this year, owing to the fact that a portion of the paved roads included in the above mentioned 135 miles were not completed until the latter half of the year and some are now in course of construction, which will increase the mileage.

It probably will be advisable to provide for a larger expenditure in the future in the way of betterment of the shoulders on sandy soils.

The bituminous protecting coat, used for surfacing, has proved more satisfactory and permanent than was first anticipated. Very little will be required for renewal work along that line perhaps for the next two years.

When the type of covering was adopted it was not expected that it would last longer than three or four years, depending on the character and amount of traffic.

Some of the roads have been in use now for two and a half years, under severe traffic, and a surprisingly small amount needed for repairs and slight indication of deterioration.

Respectfully submitted,

R. J. McFADDEN,
W. T. NEWLAND,
N. T. EDWARDS,
S. H. FINLEY,

Chief Engineer of the Orange County Highway Commission.

FIRM STAND ON MEXICO POLICY IS PLEDGED BY HUGHES

G. O. P. Nominee Indorses Extension of Suffrage To Women

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Charles E. Hughes last night pledged himself to "a policy of firmness and consistency" in dealing with Mexico if elected to the presidency.

Accepting the formally tendered Republican nomination, Hughes charged the sinking of the Lusitania, and the loss of American lives in that and subsequent U-boat disasters, together with the loss of national prestige abroad, to the weakness and vacillation of the Wilson administration.

He unequivocally indorsed the extension of suffrage to women.

He denounced all plots and conspiracies in the interests of any foreign nation.

Declaring the nation to be "shockingly unprepared," he declared "for adequate national defense; adequate protection on both our western and eastern coasts." In this he included both an enlarged army and a greatly reinforced navy.

The present national prosperity Mr. Hughes characterized as a "fool's paradise," brought about by the "abnormal conditions of war," and he advocated as a needful safeguard against an "energized Europe" which will follow the close of the war, "protective upbuilding policies" which shall be applied "fairly, without abuses, in a scientific manner."

He likewise declared for a merchant marine that will not put the government in competition with private capital.

Finally, Mr. Hughes made a strong plea for peace, to further which he proposes the formation of an international tribunal to dispose of controversies of a justifiable nature.

The capacity of Carnegie hall was taxed by the throng of Republicans and Progressives who gathered to participate in the notification proceedings.

There were demonstrations for all the old leaders—of whom there were present, among others, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Senator Boies Penrose, Mr. T. Crane, Governor Whitman, John W. Wadsworth and practically the entire Republican membership of the national congress, as well as many Republican governors and other state officials and the leading members of the Progressive party.

A particular demonstration was accorded Mr. Roosevelt.

Former President Taft sent the following telegram:

"Letter received. Am very sorry it will be impossible for me to be present at official notification of Mr. Hughes, because I anticipate a great occasion and a great speech—an augury of victory."

Hughes said in part:

"We know that we are in a critical period, perhaps more critical than any period since the Civil War. We need a dominant sense of national unity; the exercise of our best constructive powers; the vigor and resourcefulness of a quickened America."

Hughes attacked the present administration for its record in foreign relations and especially in regard to Mexico. Speaking of the Vera Cruz incident in which nineteen Americans and more than 100 Mexicans were killed, he said:

"Later, we retired from Vera Cruz, giving up this noble warfare. We had not obtained the salute which was demanded. We had not obtained reparation for affronts."

"We are now informed that 'we did not go to Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag.' We are told that we were there to show Mexico that we were in earnest in our demand that Huerta must go. That is, we seized Vera Cruz to depose Huerta. The question of the salute was a mere pretext."

"The entire National Guard has been ordered out, and many thousands of our citizens have been taken from their peaceful employment and hurried to the Mexican border. The administration was to seize and punish Villa for his outrage on our soil. It has not punished anyone; we went in only to retire, and future movements are apparently to be determined by a joint commission."

"The conduct of this administration has created difficulties which we shall have to surmount. We shall have to overcome the antipathy needlessly created by that conduct and to develop genuine respect and confidence. We shall have to adopt a new policy, a policy of firmness and consistency through which alone we can promote an enduring friendship."

Regarding the Lusitania disaster, Hughes said:

"Had this government by the use of both informal and formal diplomatic opportunities left no doubt that when we said 'strict accountability' we meant precisely what we said and that we should unhesitatingly vindicate that position, I am confident that there would have been no destruction of American lives by the sinking of the Lusitania."

"We denounce all plots and conspiracies in the interest of any foreign nation. Utterly intolerable is the use of our soil for alien intrigues."

In regard to the issue of preparedness Hughes declared the administration had followed, not led.

"Men fresh from their peaceful employments and physically unprepared have been hurried to the border for actual service," Mr. Hughes said. "They were without proper equipment; without necessary supplies; suitable conditions of transportation were not provided."

Hughes declared for a revision of the tariff on scientific principles, with investigations by an expert body for the aid of Congress.

On woman suffrage he said:

"I indorse the declaration in the platform in favor of woman suffrage. I do not consider it necessary to review the arguments usually advanced on the one side or the other, as my own opinions proceed from a different point of view."

He concluded: "We have a vision of America prepared and secure; strong and just; equal to her tasks; an exemplar of the capacity and efficiency of a free people. I indorse the platform adopted by the convention and accept its nomination."

"RAMONA," the elaborate new film spectacle, is declared to be very remarkable for its visioning of phases of life seldom seen. The pictures of the Mission Indian sheep herders and sheep shearers charmed New York quite as much as the more dramatic episodes, such as the raiding and burning of the Indian village of Temecula and the tragic fate of Alessandro. The sheep scene is so beautiful that it called forth an editorial panegyric from one of the leading Los Angeles dailies. Without exception the dramatic critics of Los Angeles and San Francisco declare "Ramona," the new Clune pictorial version of Helen Hunt Jackson's gripping California romance in ten reels to be the very last word in the evolution of cinematography. "Ramona" comes to Clune's Santa Ana Theatre on Monday, August 7th, for two days only.

WARRING NATIONS AT THEIR LAST STAND AS 3RD YEAR BEGINS

—J. W. T. MASON

Neither Side Is Yet Able to Dictate Terms to Other At End of 24 Months

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The warring nations of Europe are at their last stand, as they enter today upon the third year of the conflict.

Two years of prodigious expenditures, of enormous losses and of indecisive victories and defeats have led up to the final phase of the great struggle which discloses neither side able as yet to dictate terms to the other. The allies and the Central empires have not even decided among themselves as to the details of their own terms. This must be the principal work of their statesmen during the third year of the war.

The two years of conflict have demonstrated that in a war as complex as the European struggle, other forces besides those controlled by the military play an increasingly important part in the final outcome. The present war map, showing the German lines extending far into enemy countries, and showing also the loss of Germany's colonial empire, is but one element that must enter into any discussion of peace. Lines on either side may hold, but once the enemy establishes a definite superiority in man-killing power, this fact will have a heavy bearing on peace negotiations.

Three Influences
Three other influences are at work in the final phase of the war: Financial, economic and food. Financially, Europe at large is approaching a limit of impossible taxation after the war, to pay the interest on the money now being so readily borrowed under the influence of patriotic fervor. Belligerent statesmen are entering upon the third year of the war with serious financial misgivings that will probably stimulate interest in peace as new borrowings of billions become necessary. It is practically certain that in some of the warring nations, thinly disguised socialistic seizures of property will have to be made, to pay the war bills, even if the war doesn't last a day longer. If peace continues to be evasive far into the third year of the war, there will be few countries in the end will be able to avoid widespread confiscation.

Economically, the two years of warfare have not been disastrous for any of the principal belligerents. Working men's wages, in general, have risen higher than the increased cost of living. The dispatch of so many millions of men to the front and the use of so many millions more in munitions factories, have caused a scarcity of ordinary labor throughout Europe.

Strain After War
The Central empires, however, will feel a serious economic strain when the war is over, because their supply of raw materials is rapidly becoming exhausted. The allies have been able to import raw materials continuously during the war, while Germany and Austria-Hungary have had to live on their reserves. How to purchase raw materials from abroad in sufficient quantities to provide for the millions of Central soldiers returning to work in their own countries after peace is declared, will present a serious problem for Berlin and Vienna to solve.

Russ Start Too Late
For two years, the supply of food in the Teutonic countries has been constantly dropping. The enforcement of a low dietary scale upon the Germans has undoubtedly had some depressing moral effects, but there is as yet no evidence that actual starvation for the mass of the people is imminent. If the Russian armies, however, can reach the fields and cattle pastures of Hungary and Galicia before the August harvesting is over, the Teutons may yet be starved into surrender. But as the third year of the war begins, it seems as if the Russian offensive started too late to accomplish this objective.

EDEN'S OPINION UPHELDS ACTS OF PROCEDURE

Declares Mailing List Used In Protection District Formation Correct

Holding that all proceedings of the county officials in reference to the United Protection District have been legal, Deputy District Attorney Edw. J. Edin, today advised the Board of Supervisors to go ahead with the formation of the district. There seems to be little question now but that the supervisors will proceed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with the hearing of specific remonstrances, of which there are about 700. Following the decision upon them, the district will be formed and proceedings undertaken for the election of directors of the district.

The opinion that Eden will read to the supervisors tomorrow is as follows:

"Gentlemen: On the 25th day of July, 1916, at the meeting of your Board when you were having under consideration the question of your jurisdiction to act on the petition for the formation of the United Protection District, I gave it, without investigating the matter, as my opinion that the notices as mailed out by your clerk were not sufficient to give you jurisdiction to act. I did this upon the theory that at the time the notices were mailed out, the assessment roll for 1916-17 had not yet been returned by the assessor to the Board of Equalization, and therefore the notices should have been mailed to owners of land, as they appear on the assessment roll for 1916-17.

"It appears that the assessment books were all completed and returned to the Board of Equalization before the 19th instant, being the day fixed in the notice for hearing.

"Upon more careful consideration of the question, it is my opinion that if, at the time so set for hearing, to-wit: July 19th, notices had in fact been mailed by the clerk to all persons whose names appeared at that time upon the assessment roll for 1916-17 as land owners, the notice was sufficient to give the Board jurisdiction of the matter. From the testimony of Mr. Skiles and Mr. Williams, it appears that notices were in fact mailed to all persons so appearing on the assessment roll for the year 1916-17 and, therefore, the Board has the necessary jurisdiction to act in the premises.

"The object of the law in prescribing the method of giving notice, is to give notice, as nearly as they can be ascertained, to the present owners.

"It cannot be denied that the assessment roll of 1916-17 will much more correctly give the names of present owners than the list of 1915; and the notices, as given, will more nearly fulfill the object of the law than in any other manner, and no substantial right or interest of any land owner can be prejudiced by the notices as given and mailed; but to the contrary by giving the notices as they have been, the rights and interests of all persons concerned have been more certainly protected than by using the assessment roll of a year ago.

"Upon the question of the right of parties interested to file objections to the petition, it is my opinion that only such objections as were filed with you at or before the time originally fixed for the hearing, should be considered by you.

"You have authority by the statute to pass upon the objections and to sustain the same in whole or in part, and may change or alter the boundaries of the district to conform to the needs of the district, not, however, so as to include therein any territory not included in the boundaries mentioned in the petition, and may in four districts declare such storm water district formed with the boundaries designated by you and under the name designated by you."

JITNEY BONDING LOSING GAME, SAYS MORGAN

Action of Accident Victims In Going to Courts Held Responsible

Life for the insurance companies that bond jitney buses seems not to be a bed of roses. At the meeting of the city council last night it became known that the Casualty Company of America, with offices in New York, for which Charles B. Morgan of 208 East Tenth street is the agent, had decided to discontinue bonding jitneys in every city where this had hitherto been done.

When the council heard this the question arose whether the city would be affected in any way by the Casualty Company's discontinuance of jitney bonding. City Attorney G. H. Scott stated that the matter was entirely up to the jitney men themselves. If the company by which they had been bonded, Attorney Scott said, discontinued that department of business, it was incumbent upon the jitney proprietors to secure bonds elsewhere.

Asked today in regard to what caused the Casualty Company of America to quit the bonding of jitneys, Morgan said that it was due to the failure in practically all cities of people who had been in accidents to go to the company with their complaints. Instead, said Morgan, the accident victims in most cases went to lawyers and then adjustments invariably became expensive for the company, so much so that it was impossible for the company to continue the bonding business profitably.

"If those injured in jitney accidents would come directly to the company, settlements could be effected with but little expense in most cases," Morgan said. "By going to the courts, however, costs are greatly increased, to the inevitable disadvantage to the bonding companies."

Morgan said that the Pacific Coast Casualty Company, which had made a business of bonding jitneys, was compelled to suspend operations some months ago and that the Casualty Company of America took over its business.

At one time the American company had forty-five jitneys bonded in Orange county, practically all of them operating out of Santa Ana. Now, however, the number has been reduced to about thirty-six.

On Monday night a small pocket searchlight on the party to see who and how many victims were. He ordered them to file out of the machine and stand alongside of the stage, holding up the lights of the old-time stage holdups.

Coolly and apparently in no hurry, the bandit went through the pockets of the members of the party. He ignored all jewelry, but gathered $15 for his pains.

Ordering the party back into the machine, he told Mr. Fend to continue his course toward Long Beach. He even accompanied the car as far as Naples, a point the farthest away from both Long Beach and Seal Beach. The highwayman turned at this point and after extinguishing the lights on his motorcycle, returned along the Orange county road toward this city.

Mr. Fend reported the hold up to the Long Beach police and City Marshal Newswanger. The bandit is described as being about five feet eight inches in height, tall, well set, weighing about 170 pounds. He was dressed in motorcycle-officer style, with a khaki suit and leggings to match. He wore a brown soft felt hat.

IT'S ALL RIGHT, BOYS

Don't be down-hearted, my boys who have been honorably discharged from the "service of your country" on account of physical disability.

Remember that there are other and even better ways of serving your country than "going to the front." And you are not disqualified for THAT kind of service. Even if you were now, or ever should become, wholly disqualified for "active" service, either at home or at the front, remember Milton in his blindness—

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

You have done your duty and that is all any of the other boys have done or can do. Just continue to do your duty, whatever it may be, and all shall be well.

And don't take the dictum of the doctors too seriously. While the medical profession has done and is now doing a noble and a marvelous service for humanity, it is not infallible. The world is full of men and women, doing their full share of the world's work, whom the doctors scrap-heaped years ago.

Of course, you must by treatment and right living try to overcome your physical disqualifications; but all the time you may take comfort and courage in the thought that you did not know you were physically delinquent until the doctors told you so. And if they hadn't told you so you would have gone on with the company and made just as good soldiers as any of them.

You are better men than when you marched away on that memorable Sunday afternoon—better intellectually, morally and spiritually because of the great responsibility you assumed, the impressive lessons you learned, the wider range of vision that is yours; and better physically because, despite your "disqualifications" you stood the rigors of camp life, brought your body under strict discipline and learned what is the matter with you and thus how to apply the remedy.

And when you have rid yourselves of your respective "disqualifications" you will be the first and best men to come forward at your country's most urgent call—if such call ever comes.

SUGAR FACTORIES TO BE COMMENDED

The liberal policy of the sugar factories in their dealings with the beet growers is highly commendable.

As we understand it the growers of this county will be paid between $40,000 and $50,000 more for their beets this season than their contracts call for.

The beet crop is not going to be relatively large this season, but owing to war conditions the price of sugar is now high and likely to remain high or go higher. Therefore the sugar factories have voluntarily agreed to share their profits with the growers to the extent of paying 50 cents per ton more than the contract price for beets.

Of course in the last analysis it will pay the sugar factories to do this. More and more clearly experience is proving that those industries are most permanently successful which recognize and put fairly into practice the profit-sharing principle, and the managers of the local sugar factories would be the last of the captains of industry to pose as philanthropists. Nevertheless the voluntary distribution by corporations of half a hundred thousand dollars per annum among those who produce their raw materials is a fine and a noteworthy thing to do.

"LOCKSTEP" SCHOOLING

In recent years the name of Dr. Burk, president of the San Francisco Normal School, has become so intimately connected with his pet aversion, "Lockstep Schooling," that to think of one is to think of the other. Just what is meant by "Lockstep Schooling" may not be understood by all. The phrase is graphic and suggests a certain inflexibility or wooden rule system that does not appeal. In a few concise sentences in a recent issue of the Chico Enterprise Dr. Burk has clearly explained what it is that he is so vigorously fighting. As described by him, the abolishment of the system of treating a class as a unit and subjecting every member to the same rigid method is a necessity and the substitution of individual instruction and the treatment of each student separately and according to particular requirement is imperative.

SOCIETY MUST PAY THE PRICE

Nearly everybody remembers the white slave case in which two young girls of good families, of Sacramento, were taken to Reno, Nevada, by two young men of equally good families, of the same city—Diggs and Caminetti. After many long-drawn-out trials these young men were found guilty, and Judge Van Fleet, in sentencing them, said: "Society must pay the price. I wish to say," he continued, "that all through this case there is the evidence that drink had its paralyzing influence upon the morals and the minds of these men and these two young girls with whom they went on that trip to Reno. The terrible, debasing influence of the saloon, the dead-fall of the roadhouse, is too disgustingly apparent in this pitiful situation, and I make the observation here that society must pay the price for permitting the existence of these highly objectionable places."

THE OBSERVER

The other day I saw a boy—really a young man—a Santa Ana High School pupil—sweeping off a sidewalk. It took him three times as long to do it as it ought to have taken, and when he had finished—or, rather, when he quit—the work was only half done. The walk was strewn with dust and strewn with grass clippings. In short, the boy did a slovenly piece of work.

It may have been said ten thousand years ago and ten thousand times, but it is just as true and as important as ever, that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. The man that can shine your shoes better and quicker than any other man is more of an artist, more to be admired, than the man who can paint only a poor picture—that is, if he persists in painting poor pictures. Of course if he will quit painting poor pictures and go to shining shoes well, he'll become a true artist, entitled to respect and admiration.

Do your very best, boys, at whatever you may work or play; but if your best isn't good—as good as, or better than the best of anybody else—quit the job or the game and work or play at something else—at one thing after another till you find something at which you can excel.

The other day Gov. Johnson was telling some friends a story illustrating how little foundation there is for most of the terrible things with which he is charged by some of the newspapers that are opposed to him politically.

"A little while ago," said the Governor, "Mrs. Johnson and I were on our way to San Diego in our machine, and we stopped at Visalia for lunch. That night when we reached Santa Barbara a friend of ours in Visalia called me up and told me that the Visalia Times had a very ugly story about me, in connection with my stop at Visalia."

"What could it be?" I asked; "we were in Visalia only an hour—just went to the hotel for lunch and then passed on."

"Well," said my friend, "the Times says you came through here in a foreign car driven by a foreign chauffeur in uniform, and this alleged fact is made the basis of a big holler about your aristocratic un-Americanism, etc."

"My chauffeur was a boy born south of Market street in San Francisco, and his uniform consisted of a ragged linen duster. The car was of foreign make, a battered old Mercer that I cling to because I can't afford a new car."

"The next day I told my driver, Chester, what the newspaper had said, and joshed him about being a foreigner."

"Well, Governor," he said, "I guess I'm to blame. While you were at lunch I was busy under the car, and a gang of boys gathered and bothered me with questions. To get rid of them I said: 'Me no speeka de English.'"

I recall what Gov. Johnson told me some time ago about this same "foreign" chauffeur. When Col. Roosevelt came to the San Francisco fair Gov. Johnson placed Chester and the old Mercer at the Colonel's service. The San Francisco chief of police swore Chester in as a secret service man and gave him a big automatic revolver to carry. Chester was greatly pleased and very proud. But the climax of his pride and pleasure came the following Christmas, when Col. Roosevelt sent him a silver match safe inscribed: "From T. R. To the Man Behind the Gun."

A WOMAN'S HELPFUL ADVICE
 "Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill., writes: 'I was stricken with lumbago, unable to turn myself in bed. A neighbor brought me Foley Kidney Pills. Said she had been similarly afflicted and they cured her. I tried them and was completely cured by three bottles.' Mrs. Eveland heartily recommends Foley Kidney Pills for kidney trouble. When the kidneys are not functioning properly, impurities left in the blood cause rheumatism, lame back, aches and pains. Rowley Drug Co.—Advertisement."

Destiny and the Man

(From the Stockton Record)

California is a big state—a big western state with a big western spirit. It ought to send a big man to represent it in the Senate of the United States—one who has the ability, the force and the disposition to do things.

Hiram W. Johnson measures four square. He is a big man, who will worthily represent a big state. He is a Californian, a native of the western soil and typifying the spirit of the West.

For six years he has been the governor of his native state—six years of constructive work, of high accomplishment, of humane legislation. At the end of these six years of wonderful effort and stupendous results, the only thing that his political enemies and the opposition press can find to urge against him is that he is not a Republican!

But the people know him—know what he has done and what he stands for. After four years of marvelous achievement, the people of California were so pleased with him that they wiped out all party lines and re-elected him by the overwhelming majority of 189,000. The people cared not what party claimed him, or what party he affiliated with.

And now the people, who approve what has been done by Governor Johnson in the state of California, are going to send him to the United States Senate, for the people "have a hunch" that what is needed in the Senate is some Johnsonian vigor, the "kick," so to speak, that the Governor so dearly loves to put into any work that is dear to his heart, and possibly nothing in this world would delight him more than the privilege of dusting the cobwebs in the senatorial chamber.

Destiny is the pathfinder, and the trail leads straight to Washington for Senator Johnson.

When Experts Disagree

BY FRANKLIN HICHBORN

The California Grape Protective Association, which is responsible for the grotesque misrepresentation of how prohibition has affected Portland, Oregon, has issued a little booklet, "How Prohibition Would Affect California." In this booklet, the association repeats its misrepresentation of Portland conditions. The falsity of the association's assertions regarding Portland has already been shown.

The association's California "statistics" are quite as remarkable as its Portland "statistics."

Of the annual value of the California grape crop, for example, the association gives the following:

Wine and brandies.....	$15,000,000
Raisins.....	7,000,000
Table grapes.....	7,500,000
By-products.....	500,000

Total.....$30,000,000

These figures to an important degree differ from the latest official statistics available.

Bulletin No. 6 of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, dealing with the 1915 California grape crop, gives the value of the crop for that year as follows:

Wines.....	$ 5,800,000
Raisins.....	10,000,000
Table grapes.....	9,514,000

At once the California Grape Protective Association clique will attempt explanation of the low 1915 wine grape showing by placing the blame on the "brandy tax." But turning again to the State Viticultural Commission's report, we find that the dry wine production, which is not affected by the "brandy tax," was in 1915 "somewhere near the normal value."

$4,000,000. The report further sets forth that because of the "brandy tax," sweet wine production fell off from normal about $4,000,000. The report gives the 1915 production of sweet wines as $1,800,000. This would make the "normal value" of sweet wine production $5,800,000, and the combined "normal value" of dry and sweet wines $9,800,000.

The California Grape Protective Association does not appear to be a "booster" organization until it comes to boosting wine-making. Then it develops amazing boosting power.

The 1915 figures show the raisin crop value is $10,000,000. The California Grape Protective Association knocks it down $3,000,000, thirty per cent, to $7,000,000.

The 1915 figures show the table grape crop $9,514,000. The California Grape Protective Association knocks off $2,000,000 and then $1,400,000 more, making it $7,500,000.

Curiously enough, the two documents from which the above statistics are taken are issued by organizations which are shown by the letterheads of the California Grape Protective Association and the state roster of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners (State Blue Book of 1915) to be controlled largely by the same men.

Mr. H. F. Stoll, who is treasurer of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, is secretary of the California Grape Protective Association. Mr. Ed M. Sheehan, who is secretary of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, is a member of the campaign committee of the Grape Protective Association. He is also a member of the board of directors of the association. He is also its first vice-president.

Mr. Frank T. Swett, who is a director of the Grape Protective Association, is vice-president of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners. The president of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, Mr. C. T. Wetmore is a director of the Grape Protective Association. Mr. Secondo Guasti, member of the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, is a member of the campaign committee of the Grape Protective Association. He is also a director of the association and its third vice-president.

WOMEN CLAIM HUGHES' FATE IN THEIR HANDS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 1.—Announcement that Charles E. Hughes has been invited to address the Women's National Conference here August 10-12, "provided" he has previously made a declaration in favor of the Susan B. Anthony national suffrage amendment," was contained in a statement by Miss Anne Martin of Nevada, national chairman.

Continuing, the statement said: "If neither the Democratic nor Republican leader does all in his power to help the cause of women we can throw our support to one of the three majority parties which are all pledged to national woman suffrage, or we can place a ticket of our own in the field. 'Women voters can determine who the next president will be.'"

TO GIVE OLD JOBS TO L. A. HARBOR STRIKERS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—More than two score of former employees of the lumber companies out on strike at Los Angeles harbor yesterday applied for their old jobs and many of them were given work. However, there were a number who could not be taken care of at present and were told that they could have their situations as vacancies occur. Strikers are at work in the lumber yards there and officials of the companies have declared that they will keep these men at work and take back the strikers only as they are needed. The lumber companies, however, have not had their full quota of help since the strike began and therefore there were many jobs to be filled at once.

HUGENOT PARK, S. I. N. Y., Aug. 1.—Lessons in aviation to equip 250 New York city girls to fly for Uncle Sam during war time will be the big feature of the women soldiers' camp of the American Women's League For Self Defense which opened here today.

Mrs. Ida E. Lowber, herself a woman trooper, gave the girls 100 tents they pitched among others here today.

An army officer will be at the camp daily to give the girls instructions in military tactics and setting up exercises. This officer may be Captain Lucious C. Higgins of the Ninth Regiment. Aeroplanes and wireless outfits were being installed at the camp today.

The girls pay $7 a week board.

Literary Puzzle

Easy to understand all this but the Bennett episode. Perhaps the thieves wanted something to throw at the cat.

Reformed

"Kid" McCoy, the pugilist, has enlisted and is now rated as orderly. Evidently the military has done something for him that the police never could.

The Stamp Language

A correspondent wants to know about the stamp language. The whole matter may be explained in a sentence.

The stamp, placed anywhere but in the upper right hand corner of the envelope means, "I am an idiot."

Rewarded

Finding a purse containing $9000 in currency a citizen of Los Angeles handed it over to the owner.

He got no thanks whatever. But think how his conscience must be patting him on the back!

A Little Sunbeam

Peary, according to the New York Sun, has announced that he will not run for senator from Vermont.

Evidently the explorer prefers to run for senator from the state in which he resides, or make no race.

True and Foolish

"We never miss the water till the well runs dry." We really couldn't miss it before then, now could we?

One Triumph

This country never has had any of its diplomatic notes returned unopened, anyhow.

Revising the Language

An editor advises the taking of "I can and I will" as a motto, to the total abolition of "if" and "but."

However, the words are in the language, with a purpose to serve, and can't be thrust out. In the bright lexicon of youth, as will be remembered, there is no such word as "fail;" from which we learn that the lexicon is defective, nothing more.

Astrology

An astrologist declares that the malevolent astral influences that beset the first marriage of the present Mrs. Dick continue hostile and morose. The trouble is with the astrologer himself. Somebody ought to cheer him with the gift of a bale of hay.

Psychology

A psychologist has been analyzing the mentality of President Wilson. In such stunts as this the psychologist errs. What he really is doing is to find fault with an executive who has failed to please him.

Everybody has a right to an opinion, but it is impossible to mix psychology and politics and pass the stuff off as scientific.

Not in Danger

Some wise guy says that women are taking up the vices discarded by men. A neat but deftly disguised compliment. All the masculine vices they find in the discard could not mar their spotlessness.

Lucky Twenty Thousand

It appears that the opportunity for Colonel Roosevelt to lead 20,000 men has vanished.

Lucky on general principles and particularly lucky for the men, there not being enough colored troops available to rescue such a big bunch.

Mere Assumption

An unnamed philosopher wants to know why not all pretty women are good.

Nobody in this office is prepared to say that they aren't. When Aked declared that peace was far off, the world knew that somebody had lopped his distinguished name from the payroll.

TO POSTPONE ACTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Democratic senators voted to postpone action on the immigration bill, until the next session of Congress, and adopted 32 to 0 a resolution binding all Democratic Senators to that decision. DOSE GIVEN THROUGH MISTAKE KILLS MAN, PATIENT AT PATTON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Close upon the heels of the inquest here yesterday to inquire into the death of Mrs. Mary J. Morton, who died at the state hospital at Patton on July 17, after receiving a terrible beating at the hands of another patient, came startling news from Patton last night that Frank Brown, another patient at the institution, had died Sunday from the effects of a dose of oxalic acid, administered by mistake to him as Epsom salts.

According to the evidence adduced at the inquest yesterday, it developed that, contrary to regulations, the oxalic acid had not been stored in the poison chest at the hospital, but that it had been placed in an empty salts box and through this circumstance had been erroneously and tragically administered.

District Attorney T. W. Duckworth of San Bernardino county, who attended the Morton inquest here yesterday, announced last night that he will initiate an investigation of conditions surrounding these two cases at the hospital at Patton as soon as he returns to San Bernardino.

CAL. GUARDSMEN ARE FOUND O. K. BY BLISS

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 1.—The California National Guardsmen are as fit and their camps are as well conducted as those of any militia organizations along the border, according to Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the United States army. The Seventh California Infantry had its second regimental parade and showed a noticeable improvement. Colonel Schrieber has decided to move the camp over onto what has been used as a parade ground. This will eliminate to some degree the danger of floods. The first battalion, the machine gun company and the headquarters company of the Seventh were inspected by Major Farrell of the Fifth California Infantry.

HARD TIMES PARTY

Surprise For N. Gledhill Proves Delightful In Its Old-fashioned Joys

Mrs. N. Gledhill of 705 South Sycamore street planned and carried out a very complete and delightful surprise for her husband last evening, the affair being an old-fashioned hard times party.

When the guests arrived, clad most fearfully and wonderfully in gorgeous make-ups, having searched attics and garrets for garbs of "ye olde tyme," they found the Gledhill home dimly lighted with candles in shades of green, gorgeous sunflowers being used for decorations, carrying out the yellow and green color tints.

Dancing was then enjoyed—those old-time jolly square dances and Virginia reels, which, alas! are now seen no more on the modern dancing floors. The grafanola furnished the lively music.

There were also many old-time games, such as Puss, Pinning the Tail on a Donkey, Why, When and Where. Frank Britton with his clothes on "hind side before" and who walked backwards and did everything else backwards, was awarded the gentlemen's prize, a beautiful pair of galuses made of blue and white ticking, and Mrs. H. E. Johnson took the ladies' prize, an iron-holder made of the same handsome material. Mrs. Johnson was most wonderfully gotten up in hues of brown and yellow with a seventeenth century poke bonnet.

An old-fashioned lap lunch, consisting of beans, bread and lasses and iced ginger tea, was a jolly feature of the evening and at midnight before the motley company departed, tired but most happy and charmed with the Gledhill hospitality, Mrs. Gledhill surprised all by serving delicious brick ice cream in the three prevailing colors and cake harmonizing.

Those participating were the following: Messrs. and Mmes. W. O. Packard, A. J. Smith, H. E. Johnson, H. P. Christenson of Tustin, Frank Britton, C. A. Lindquist, J. H. Gledhill, C. E. Clem, J. R. Burson; Mmes. Anna Hardy, Sophia Rice, Margaret Wells, Bertha Simington; Messrs. Bernard Packard and George Christenson of Tustin; Misses Lucille and Catherine Packard, Nelle and Ruth Burson, Mildred Britton and Roxie Wells; Masters Merrill Simington and Elmer Clem.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Grant and Mrs. Schreier of Indiana, house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Britton.

Former Y. M. C. A. Secretary E. M. Brown and Family Go to Des Moines

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brown and little son left today for their new home in Des Moines, Ia., where he will occupy the position as physical director at Highland College. Ralph G. Cole of Long Beach will take Mr. Brown's place as county Y. M. C. A. secretary, although he will not be here until September.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were given a farewell recently at the home of George B. Key at Placentia, myriads of sunflowers making appropriate adornment for the home.

Following a brief business session of the county Y. M. C. A. officials, a very interesting musical and literary program was rendered.

P. M. German of Garden Grove, who is a violinist of marked ability, played several expressive numbers, with piano accompaniment by Miss Winnifred Adland, also of Garden Grove.

Mrs. Brown gave two delightful readings and Will Key, the son of the host and hostess, also treated the company to violin music.

The host and Messrs. Knapp and German of Garden Grove, in short impromptu talks, expressed the entire company's appreciation of Mr. Brown's faithful and efficient work. His genial personality has won many new recruits in the Y. M. C. A. cause and it is with deep regret that the community loses this earnest worker.

A delicious two-course collation was served before the guests bade their hosts good-night and the guests of honor godspeed and happiness in their new home.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tedford and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis were present from Santa Ana.

POPULAR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Winifred Perkins Honored With Charming Affair Saturday Evening

Miss Winifred Perkins, upon whom, as one of the best-loved and most popular of this month's brides-to-be, her friends are showering many delightful attentions, was the honoree Saturday night at a particularly charming affair given at the home of Mrs. Floyd Elliott on Valencia street, with Mrs. Elliott and Miss Lois Park of Orange, as hostesses.

Huge bowls and baskets, filled with velvety French marigolds, were a most effective decoration against the soft brown background of the charming rooms. The early part of the evening sped happily with music and the sort of good time which a score or more of congenial girl friends enjoy most, and then the guest of honor was led into the back-yard, where a most beautiful scene awaited her. This particular back-yard is a miniature park, with spacious lawns, trees and a sparkling fountain, and it was lighted for the occasion with twinkling electric lights. Concealed everywhere about were mysterious parcels for which Miss Perkins was urged to search, and the parcels revealed many lovely gifts of china and crystal, such as girls love to shower upon a favorite friend for her future home.

A most delectable two-course supper was served out of doors. French marigolds decorated the pretty place cards and pressed chicken with little sandwiches and cucumber salad, cake, ice cream and coffee were among the dainty eatables.

Among the guests at this delightful affair were Mmes. Francis Walcott, P. R. Hope, Misses Dixie Perkins, Grace and Emily Birtcher of Los Angeles; Mmes. Justice Craemer, W. O. Hart, Will Chandler, Paul Clark, Osman Pixley, Misses Agnes Ensign and Lois Letitia Park of Orange; Mmes. Harry Hayes, Will Hotelling, Joe Babbitt, Lois Lentz, Archie Burkett; Misses Clara Witt, Alice Clausen and Helen Johnson of Santa Ana.

Delightful Luncheon, Theater Party
One of the most delightful of the first of the week's social affairs was the luncheon and theater party given yesterday by Mrs. Otto C. Kientz of South Sycamore street, honoring Mrs. Amelia Cowan, Mrs. O. B. McKinney, Mrs. W. M. Baum and Miss Thelma Baum of Crowell, Mich.

The luncheon was most attractively served at the Cherry Blossom in the bright and cheery dining room, besides the hostess and complimented guests, covers being laid for Mmes. F. H. Phillips, Darius Miller, H. H. Hill, Master Ralph Miller and Miss Minnie Edgar.

Lovely pink hydrangeas and ferns made attractive decorations for the luncheon table, the dainty meal being served in five courses.

Mrs. Kientz then took her guests to Clune's, where the program was greatly enjoyed, especially the music.

COMPANY L BENEFIT

Goodly-Sized Audience Enjoys Pleasant Literary, Musical Program and Talk

Major General Newell Vandermast made the hit of the evening last night, when he made his debut on the stage at Elks' hall, having just received his commission and his uniform. The little soldier clad in his brand new khaki regimentals announced the various numbers on the program in a perfectly well trained manner and everybody could plainly hear what the young man said and he received an ovation at each appearance.

This entertainment was given for the benefit of the families of Company L and was given under the supervision of Ernest Crozier Phillips, a number of Santa Ana artists giving their services for the cause. The hall was about two-thirds full, many other attractions taking their quota of citizens.

Those taking part were Maurice Phillips, who always delights his hearers with rollicking numbers, every word being perfectly audible. He was followed by Capt. J. L. McBride, who has just returned from the border at Nogales, who made an interesting and informal talk, telling of the company's experiences since leaving here and correcting some wrong impressions. He urged the continuation of kindnesses to the families of the soldier boys, which are appreciated and makes the life of the absent ones much easier.

Miss Louise Montgomery, who has a delightfully clear and musical voice, sang two selections and was greatly enjoyed and Miss Winifred Roberts charmed with some dainty readings, with musical accompaniment by Prof. Garstang.

Raymond R. Miles rendered "The Shoggy Shoo," which is a prime favorite with everybody and was splendidly given, together with another pleasing number. Prof. Garstang accompanied all the singers with the exception of Miss Montgomery, who was assisted by Fred Stever of Orange.

Raymond Beebe, the clever young magician, was not the least interesting feature of the program. He had some clever new tricks and some really new jokes and his little act was entirely too short, according to his interested audience.

The program was concluded with a little sketch entitled "Her Neighbor's Creed," given by Miss Gladys Thomas and Warren Fletcher, two talented young high school people. The stage was very beautifully and delightfully decorated; yellow, orange County's official color, being used in the delicate mustard bloom and golden marigold, the greenery being furnished with ferns and feathery papyrus.

The committee reports $40 cleared; in fact, there was no expense at all the hall and all furnishings being donated. The committee responsible for the success of the undertaking was Ernest Crozier Phillips, chairman; Prof. Garstang, Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. A. J. Padgham, Mrs. Julia Garson, Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Mrs. W. F. Crose and a sparkling fountain, and it was lighted for the occasion with twinkling electric lights. Concealed everywhere about were mysterious parcels for which Miss Perkins was urged to search, and the parcels revealed many lovely gifts of china and crystal, such as girls love to shower upon a favorite friend for her future home.

Members Philathea Class First Presbyterian, Make Pleasant Trip Yesterday

The Philathea class of the First Presbyterian Church was most delightfully entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hutter, with Miss Catherine Rowley as hostess.

At 6:30 o'clock there was a sumptuous picnic supper spread on long tables under the spreading pepper trees and in the delicious cool of the evening, keen young appetites were whetted for the feast.

Adjournment was then taken to the parlors, where nodding yellow sunflowers bloomed a greeting and gathering around the organ, the company of young people with clear, sweet voices sang all the old-time songs. The party was then grouped into states, which proved interesting and a season was then enjoyed in telling the names of mothers and grandmothers, many old-fashioned and quaint appellations being discovered. Those participating in the merrymaking were Misses Alice Wasser, Marguerite Wallace, Frances Potts, Gertrude Watts, Ruth Armstrong, Eva Osborne, Nada Woodward, Lydia Gabe, Pearl Plumb, Virginia Potts, Margaret Gerhardt, Joy Baker, Adeline Hill, Clara Brown, Belle McDermott, Edith Higgins of Tustin, Zelma Sturgeon.

The charming home on South Main street was made inviting with cool ferns and bright with the Stars and Stripes and the company pleasantly passed the time with needlework and amusing and interesting games.

Miss Henry served refreshing lemonade, ice cream and cake, before her guests departed late in the afternoon.

The camp is entirely self-supporting, the children doing the work except the cooking and the camp is strictly clean and most sanitary. Three young men supervisors were in charge of the lads. There is now in course of construction a very large club house, made of rocks and logs, one part of it to be used for a library. There is also planned a pumping plant, as the boys have to carry the water from the creek in buckets.

The bulk of the property is real estate located in Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange counties. With the exception of the home place at Altadena, which is given to Miss Clara A. Smith, the estate is to be divided equally.

Mrs. Smith was the widow of the late James Smith, land operator, and died July 28.

BROKEN BY AUTO KICK

ANAHEIM, Aug. 1.—Mrs. John Cook had her arm broken on Saturday while cranking her Ford at Corona. In company with Mrs. W. H. Houts and their families, they were visiting friends in Corona on Saturday. When ready to return the Ford was cranked by Mrs. Houts, but she refused to go. Mrs. Cook then took the crank and in the backfire had both bones of the right arm broken.

It later developed that the children had been playing with the terminals of the wiring system and had left one disconnected, thus causing the accident.

MANAGER RUSSELL IS CUTTING OUT PORTION OF FILM HE DISLIKES

Last night as "Blazing Love" was being shown at the Temple Theater, Manager J. N. Russell saw some things that he considered objectionable for showing in his theater, which he is determined shall at all times show nothing that shall be offensive. Russell did not wait for a consultation with the censor commission. He is a severe censor for his own theater himself. He gave instructions that the objectionable parts be eliminated, and in the film as it will appear tonight about seventy-five feet of film will not be shown.

"I want only high-class productions for my theater," said he. "I don't want people going away from my theater with a bad taste in the mouth. I want it known by my patrons that when they go to the Temple they are going to see something good and are going home satisfied, even though when they go they do not know what picture is to be shown."

CITY TRUSTEES

HARD TO KEEP
SMALLER ROCK
OUT OF BASEDifficulties In Paving Brown and Sixth Streets Up For Brief Discussion

A tin can full of broken rock was exhibited at the meeting of the City Trustees last night. It was brought to the meeting by Rev. Rudnick, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, which is paying for crushed rock and oil paving on Brown and Sixth streets.

That can of rock was the central topic of conversation at a brief meeting of the City Trustees last night. Mayor Viscel is away camping and Trustee Viscel is laid up from injuries received when his machine was bucked over on him. Trustee Tibbs announced that he was going to leave for Los Angeles at 8:15 o'clock. That meant that whatever business was done would have to be done in a hurry. Trustee Maryatt was put in the chair, and the speed was thrown into the high during the meeting.

About the only thing that was given discussion was broken rock.

"I don't know anything about paving," said Rev. Rudnick, "but I do know that this rock is a good deal smaller than the rock called for in the specifications for the base. I don't know that it will do any harm to use it."

The rock is some that has been spread by the Orange County Engineering & Contracting Company. None of its representatives was present last night.

Forking Rock

Street Superintendent O'Brien stated that the situation was well understood. Out of eleven cars of crushed rock received, nine had been rejected by the contractors because there was so much small rock in it. Men were employed at the expense of the rock crusher in forking out the rock, only the proper sized rock being used now. In hauling the first of the rock the smaller rock sifted to the bottom of the wagons and dumped in a heap. Men are at work now forking out the fine rock and throwing it off the street near the Lutheran church.

G. R. Wells, of the firm of Wells & Bressler, stated that he believed that a better street could be made if a certain amount of the small rock was used in the base, as it would fill in the crevices and make the base even more compact than if larger rock only was used. The street superintendent agreed exactly, but said the specifications do not call for any of the smaller rock at the base. Wells said the rock crusher cannot guarantee that there will be no small rock in its shipment of the larger rock.

O'Brien said that the precautions taken by the E. & C. Company were sufficient, and the remedy was being applied. He said that with the great amount of paving going on in the section north of Fifth and east of French, and a new paving job to start on West Third, it would be impossible for one inspector to attend to all of the work.

Tibbs and Greenleaf agreed that another inspector should be appointed by the street superintendent, and upon their motion authority was given for the appointment.

The upshot of the tin can of rock was that the situation will be handled by the street superintendent, inspector and contractor, and a good street will be made.

To Pave Alley

Contractors Wells & Bressler were given authority to pave the alley in the block bounded by Stafford, Lacy, Vance and Minter streets. Property owners have signed a contract for paving this alley the same as the streets are to be paved. The contractors were given permission to close Stafford street from French to Garfield.

It was stated that six sidewalk corners had been changed under the new plans. These corners were put in at the expense of the property owners at the direction of the city. Last night it was decided that the changes be made at the expense of the city.

About West Third

Contractor Wells stated that there is about three blocks of West Third street that has a solid foundation of broken rock, the product of an old-time hobo rock pile. Some of the property owners want this solid rock left. Wells said it could be cleaned out and covered, but the street would be a bit high in the center.

City Engineer Bonebrake said the thing could be done. At his request, it was decided to take no action until the trustees inspect the street.

To Gravel Street

Property owners on West Pine street between Flower and Baker streets asked that the gravel be improved with screened gravel, the property owners to pay for the hauling and the city to do the spreading. Since there was not a full board present, the matter was not acted upon last night. It was stated that 50 per cent of the frontage is signed for the work.

Trash Hauling

"Many people have not yet learned," said Tibbs, "that the city garbage contractor does not haul away grass cuttings, tree trimmings and such accumulations as that. Property owners must see to that kind of hauling. In order to have a way by which they can get this kind of trash hauled, I move that a free license be given Frank Groom, and that he be allowed to haul trash, a nominal charge to be paid for the work by the property owner to Groom. Further it shall be ordered that the city does not do this work, and that the law that property owners shall not pile trash in the streets shall be enforced."

This motion carried.

To Move House
Dart & McKim petitioned for permission to move a house from between Grant and Brown streets near Point street, by Fruit street, Grand avenue, East Fourth and out of the city on the way to Laguna Beach. The petition was referred to the street superintendent.

Notice was given that A. B. Gardner and Jack Miller withdraw from the bond of N. C. Gardner as a cement contractor.

The bond of G. T. Dunn as a cement contractor was referred to the chairman for approval or disapproval.

License Granted

A pool room license for 1025 East Fourth street was granted David Coban. It was stated that when Coban ran the place a few years ago, there was no complaint against him.

The report of the Edison Company that the ornamental lights were installed satisfactory to that company was received and filed.

Officer Pond was granted a two-weeks' vacation.

Marie Doro Takes a Close-up of Blanche Sweet.

BLANCHE SWEET AND MARIE DORO, LASKY-PARAMOUNT STARS.

Marie Doro was the hostess recently to one of the most representative gatherings of motion picture stars and directors at her new California villa. The occasion was a house warming, and Miss Doro and her husband, Elliott Dexter, welcomed the guests.

Following the supper Miss Doro made a short speech, followed by speeches by Douglas Fairbanks, Blanche Sweet and other stars. Then Charlie Chaplin, holding a large box in his hand, rose and presented the box to Miss Doro. It was a motion picture camera, which Mr. Chaplin had had made for the hostess.

Nothing would appease the guests until Mr. Dexter sent a chauffeur to the Lasky studio to "borrow" a few big artificial lights. The drawing room of Miss Doro's house was immediately turned into a studio and motion pictures of the guests were taken. Hector Turnbull, Lasky photodramatist, improvised a short play. It was estimated that the combined salaries of the stars who appeared in it reached a figure well over $125,000.

BIG INCREASE IN FULLERTON'S
VALUATIONSanta Ana's Total For Year Is $133,185 Above the Total of Last Year

Santa Ana's assessed valuation is now $6,786,460, there being an increase of $133,185 over last year. This total is the amount available for taxation purposes.

Fullerton's assessed valuation for taxation purposes is $4,278,705, an increase of $648,850.

Stanton's assessment is now $341,820. Last year it was $349,510. Seal Beach as a municipality appears on the assessment rolls this year for the first time. Its total assessment is $520,220.

Santa Ana, Fullerton, Stanton and Seal Beach are the only cities that have their city taxes collected through the county. Those taxes are based upon the valuations made by the county assessor. Today County Auditor W. C. Jerome completed his footings upon which city councils of the four cities can base their tax rates.

The big increase in Fullerton is due to the bringing in of new oil territory inside the city limits.

These totals do not include the soldier's exemptions nor the operative property that is assessed for state purposes. Soldier's exemptions in Santa Ana total $111,545; in Fullerton, $12,900; in Stanton, $595.

OIL MEN TURN OUT TO FIGHT A FIRE

FULLERTON, Aug. 1.—Starting on the Steam Co. lease operated by the Union Oil Co., a prairie fire on a small scale late Sunday afternoon swept over 300 acres and inflicted damage estimated at $1000.

The fire is believed to have had its origin in a lighted cigar or cigarette stump tossed from a passing automobile into a clump of dry grass and weeds by the side of the state highway where it passes the Stearns lease. The flames were first noticed about 4 o'clock in the afternoon leaping rapidly toward the hill top and denuding the soil of vegetation as it went.

A general alarm was sounded and oil employees and residents of the district, armed with wet sacks, hoses and shovels began a fight against the flames.

Fully 300 persons took part in the battle and the fire was not subdued until nearly two hours later.

The heaviest loss sustained was at Well No. 59. There the rig was completely destroyed, the engine house was burned down and the engine was damaged. The well is producing but the oil did not catch fire. A wooden tank, emptied of oil, however, was also destroyed.

Four tanks, containing altogether 2000 barrels were saved. The immediate vicinity as a fire precaution had

How Russia Organized and Bridged Disaster

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

(Note.—This, the third of Simms' Russian common people series is the tale of a cow, with a big idea attached.)

PETROGRAD, June 14.—(By mail.)—This is the tale of a cow. Believers in the transmigration of souls would do well to read it because it relates how Bossie, good and gentle, lost her life on the Russian battlefield and came back to it again as a pair of boots.

Likewise the story explains one of the thousand and one activities of the Zemstvo Union, a Russian citizen organization composed of plain people and gentry and how it is backing up the country.

Bossie, among a large number of cattle grazing along the Russian battlefield, met her death one fine morning by being too close to an Austrian shell when it exploded. There were so many dead cattle that the general staff felt it a pity to let all the hides go to waste, so the attention of the Zemstvo Union was called to the matter.

And the Union went into the hide-skinning business. Hides make leather and leather makes boots, boots being one of the articles with which the Zemstvo is helping to equip the army. So the Zemstvo decided to open a tannery of its own.

But tannin was scarce and hard to get. Russia had depended upon Germany for practically all her chemicals and the war had cut off her tannin along with most everything else of that nature.

About this time the government called the Zemstvo's attention to a tannin factory down near Kiev, idle since hostilities began. Among the specialties mobilized by the Union are the Russian chemists, so some of these were sent down to open up the tannin works. They did. Instead of an output of 10,000 to 12,000 pounds (a pound is 16 ounces) per month as turned out by this factory in peace times, the Zemstvo workers made it yield 17,000 pounds or a 50 per cent increase.

The tannery took care of the hides collected by the Union and Bossie's skin soon became the best quality leather. To a Union boot and shoe factory it now went, there to be transformed into as solid a pair of boots as soldier ever trod in.

Thus it happened—or might very well have happened—that a young trooper, splendid in his new boots, stood by a certain old shellhole near the Russian front a few months later. If they pinched him a bit he blamed it on their newness; he never guessed it was Bossie adjusting herself to her new conditions.

From dead cow on the battlefield to new boots on the same field, the cycle was complete. So works the Zemstvo.

Up to the end of last year the been cleared of shrubbery, and, coupled with the efforts of the fire fighters, the flames did not reach them.

Several slump holes, containing the only oil actually exposed to the fire were saved. Working hastily the fire fighters cleared away the dead brush from them and back-fired.

The Stearns lease is northeast of Fullerton.

FOR BIG NAVY

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Conferees on the naval bill will take up the large features this week.

Senate managers with the backing of President Wilson are prepared to stand firmly for the three-year program, including construction of four dreadnaughts and four battle cruisers at once, and thus force the House conferees to submit the issue to the House for reconsideration.

ORDER BAR ON PEST

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31.—The Canadian government has placed a quarantine on children under 16 years of age coming from New York and vicinity as a bar against the introduction of infantile paralysis into the Dominion.

Zemstvo Union had provided the army with 35,000,000 articles which it made or collected, plus ten million articles for its own use such as linen for hospitals, shirts for patients, etc. Among the articles were 724,000 fur coats; 493,000 felt boots; 770,000 pairs of gloves; 782,000 pairs of socks—articles made by poor workers on Union orders, or workers connected with the Co-operative Societies mobilized through these organizations.

Several hundred thousand articles are needed, at once, say, at the front. The regular industries making these articles have their hands full and cannot take on any more business. The Zemstvo steps in and, because it reaches out into the far places of the Empire, because it knows by name every workman and every little shop in the land, delivers the articles short off. It divides the order hundreds of times, farms it out in little batches, to small shops and even private cottages, and the miracle is performed.

In Moscow alone 10,000 poor women—widows and wives of soldiers principally—are permanently on the Union's payroll. Together with the Co-operative Society 36,000 women of Moscow are thus regularly employed.

But the members of the Zemstvo receive no pay. It is all for Russia. Their time and their labor are voluntary contributions, prompted by patriotic motives.

Prince Lvov, of Moscow, and a member of the Duma, is the Zemstvo Union's president; M. Alexeev, also of Moscow, is secretary, while Peter Stralve, well known to American University men, is the Petrograd man.

Over 15,000 specialists and organizers are in the field and back in the interior. There is nothing they are not doing for the army and the volume of work taken upon their shoulders seems ever to increase. Some 2500 separate and distinct Zemstvo Union institutions are now in operation, on one front alone including 106 hospitals, 40 ambulance corps, nine dental parlors, 121 medical and feeding stations combined, 225 single feeding stations, 16 laundries, 20 disinfecting plants, 14 disinfecting brigades, 21 advance hospital brigades, nine inculcating groups, 12 barber shops, 30 machine shops, 18 homes for refugees, 50 sanitary trains, innumerable storehouses, barracks, refuges, tea and coffee lines, dormitories, baths and what not.

On one front it is feeding 152,000 refugees; on another 100,000, while on the southwestern sector alone there are 70 free food stations where no hungry person is turned away empty of stomach.

The Zemstvo has outgrown what it began by doing. It has taken on infinitely greater shops. It started humbly in village and country and now doing work of Empire-wide importance. It did not need this distinction. Its bigness has been thrust upon it.

MUNSTERBERG SEES
NEW PEACE ALLIANCE

BOSTON, Mass., July 31.—An alliance between Germany, Great Britain and the United States, that is the dream of the prophecy of Hugo Munsterberg, professor of psychology at Harvard, and the strongest protagonist of the pro-German propaganda in America. He sets Christmas of 1916 as the time. Prof. Munsterberg outlines "a peace of understanding," a peace that will crush no power, that will return Belgium to the Belgians, Roland to the Poles, and even part of Lorraine to France, with compensation for Germany in Morocco. Even Britain is to gain by keeping German Southwest Africa, while less desirable African possessions are turned over to Germany. "The future does not appear bewildering," he says. "If we look at it earnestly, the chaos seems to yield to order, and if we ask boldly the final question, we get one and only one simple, clear-cut reply: the ultimate outcome of the world war will be just what we had hoped before the war, a firm alliance of America, Great Britain and Germany."

FELLOW EMPLOYEES TO AID FAMILIES OF MEN CALLED TO FLAG, PLAN

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—That the men left behind should contribute monthly towards maintaining the family of a fellow employee who answers the call to colors, is the solution proposed by Col. J. J. Borres, assistant adjutant general.

Colonel Borres had devoted considerable time to the study of the problem of properly caring for the families and dependents of guardsmen called to the front. He believes monthly contributions from fellow employees to be the best plan.

"The national defense act should be amended to provide that when the national guardsmen are called out these left behind in their positions should help support the families, as well as to contribute to the single man's army pay," said Borres.

There are eight to ten men left behind to one that is called from a large firm or corporation. Sometimes the proportion is much greater, only one out of fifty or more, being called.

"Say that a man called out from a store leaves ten fellow employees behind. If each man contributes only 10 cents a day, that would mean $30 a month for his family. This with his army pay would be sufficient to keep them."

FUNSTON PUTS BAN ON GUARDSMEN ACTING AS NEWS CORRESPONDENTS

NOGALES, Ariz., July 31.—Under an order received by Colonel Schreiber, the commanding officer of the Seventh Regiment, the authority of every newspaper correspondent is rescinded. The order, which is from General Funston, states that the duties of an officer or enlisted man in active service or on duty with any troops in the service of the United States are incompatible with those of a newspaper correspondent.

OLD GUARD INDORSES W. H. BOOTH OF L. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—In a state conference here Saturday afternoon, at which more than 1200 state and county committeemen were represented either in person or by proxy, Willis H. Booth of Los Angeles received a unanimous endorsement as the Republican candidate for United States senator from California.

A letter from Judge Walter Bordwell declining to be bound by the action of the conference was received and laid upon the table. There were no comments.

Booth has started a vigorous campaign for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate.

Either Tuesday or Wednesday he will begin a six-day motor tour through the northern section of the state, following an itinerary arranged for him by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

on almond growing in the Templeton-Paso Robles district, by Mr. E. W. Parker every day, promptly at 11 o'clock a. m., at the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles. You will be well repaid for your half hour's time listening to his interesting and instructive talk illustrated with many views of orchards, individual trees and natural scenes of wonderful beauty. Since I first told you through the medium of this paper that the Templeton-Paso Robles country possessed a combination of conditions—climate, scenic, quality of soil and abundance of rainfall, wide variety of products, market facilities and social advantages—possessed by no other one locality in the state, many new people have located there, several thousand acres of new orchards have been planted and through the publicity given the Atascadero Colony the district is fast becoming nationally famous. It's a fine place for a home, a good place to make money, land prices still low. Now is a good time to buy large or small. I am sure if you drop me a one cent postal with your name and address plainly written, the booklet I will send you will give you much valuable information.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

At the new prices it is expected that surplus stocks will be soon cleared up and a return to higher values would then take place.

Grapes were also marked down radically Monday. Malagas are now selling for 4 to 5 cents a pound. Muscats for 4 to 4½ cents a pound. Concord for $1.15 to $1.25 a crate and black grapes for $1.05 to $1.15 a box.

At these new values dealers anticipate a brisk demand for the fruit, but unless the grapes now coming in to the city prove sweeter in taste than those that have already arrived, dealers will find that the public will not buy, even at the cheaper prices.

In the plum list, values had a tendency to become easier yesterday and Hungarians were lowered to $1.50 and $1.75 a lug. Green corn has been reduced to 35 cents a lug and $1.30 a sack. Sweet potatoes, on account of increased receipts, are bringing 3 to 4 cents a pound or $1.10 to $1.35 a hundred.

CURRENT PRICES

The following market prices on poultry and fruits and vegetables are compiled daily for the Register, based on the quotations prevailing on the Los Angeles produce exchange for the business day.

Huntington Beach Man to Be Defendant In Action For $10,000 Damages

Action for about $10,000 damages for the death of Olla Hampton of Anaheim, killed in an auto crash near Seal Beach, is to be brought in the superior court of this county.

Preliminary to the starting of suit, Public Administrator Winbiger has asked for letters of administration upon Hampton's estate. Winbiger is applying in behalf of Olla Hampton's widow and daughter, Mrs. Isabel Hampton, and Winnifred, aged 1, both of Anaheim.

On August 12, 1915, Hampton was on a truck loaded with Anaheim people going to Seal Beach. An automobile driven by Mr. Van Winkle of Huntington Beach, a man well along in years, attempted to pass the truck. According to statements made at the time, another machine was approaching, and Van Winkle veered into the truck. Hampton was standing on the running board. He received injuries from which he died in a Long Beach hospital.

on the rich fields of Orange county. With thousands of carloads of products, including oil, emanating from this county every year, it produces a most lucrative business for the railroads, and the Salt Lake will make a strong bid for a portion of it.

The right of way taps one of the richest sections of the county not now served by a steam line, and in its entrance will have an exhilarating effect on those sections which it will traverse.

J. J. Tavis, local agent for the Salt Lake, and one of the most popular of railroad men, has been on the job practically from the first moment he was assigned to this district.

Tavis Selects Route

Tavis has said nothing, but sawed wood all the while. He made observations of the field in a manner which did not arouse suspicion, and but few people knew that he was laying out a route for a big transcontinental line until after right of way men were in the field securing options on various pieces of property.

Tavis was called in to Los Angeles this afternoon to consult with some of the high officials of the Salt Lake with reference to operations down here. When he returns tonight, he will probably have more definite information on the plans of the company as far as they pertain to its activities in this vicinity.

Tavis has been active and successful in representing the Salt Lake here, in getting business for that firm. He has earned the position that will doubtless be accorded him in the larger field of Salt Lake activities that will be opened up by the new line here.

ADJUTANT GENERAL IS TO RECOMMEND ADVANCE SWANNER

State Still Awaiting Official Notice of Vacancy In Co. L Captaincy

Adjutant General Thomas is going to recommend that Corporal C. D. Swanner be appointed by Gov. Johnson as second lieutenant of Company L, Seventh Regiment, now at Nogales. This is additional information to that already received here, previous information being that the general would recommend that First Lieut. N. M. Holderman be advanced to captain, to take the place of Capt. J. L. McBride, and that Second Lieut. A. K. Ford be advanced to first lieutenant.

Not being acquainted with Swanner, who was recommended by Capt. McBride for second lieutenant, General Thomas sent to Santa Ana for information concerning him. That information was forwarded, with the result that General Thomas will recommend him for second lieutenant when the vacancy occurs.

It is generally understood here that the recommendation of the adjutant general is equal to an appointment, as Gov. Johnson will undoubtedly follow the adjutant general's recommendation. Information that General Thomas would recommend Swanner for appointment as second lieutenant came in a letter to Judge W. H. Thomas from Martin Madsen, the governor's private secretary. Judge Thomas was one of those who wired the governor urging that Company L's officers all be chosen from the company.

12,000,000 W. U. NIGHT LETTERS SENT IN ONE YEAR, REPORT SHOWS

In the present prosperity of the Western Union Telegraph Company reflected in the steady advance of its stock, predicated upon an increase in net income for the last quarter of 80 per cent over the same quarter in 1915, no small part has been played by the avidity with which the American public has seized upon the use of the night letter for both business and social communication. While there is also a large use of the day letter, its use had not approximated the use of the night letter, which can be sent up to 2 o'clock in the morning from any part of the United States to any other part to be delivered at breakfast time.

Six years ago there were no night letters. Tonight, unless some catastrophe destroys the Western Union system, its lines will carry approximately 40,000 night letters of fifty words or less. There will be about two-thirds that number of day letters sent. Of the 100,000,000 messages a year sent over the Western Union lines, 12,000,000 are night letters, illustrating the remarkable growth of this auxiliary to the telegraph service. About 8,000,000 day letters are sent annually. This growth has taken place in the case of the night letter since 1910, and in the case of the day letters since 1912. The increase in the last year has been about 25 per cent, and the company expects a like increase in the ensuing year.

12,000,000 Night Letters a Year

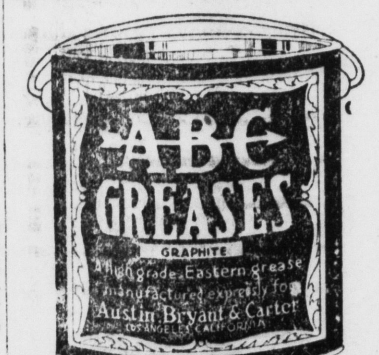

The night letter was started by the Western Union in 1910 because it wished to make some use of its great facilities lying idle at night. It was decided to make the experiment of giving the patrons the opportunity to send fifty words at night for the cost of a ten-word day message, to be delivered at the start of business the next day. The idea took from the start. Business men found they could send to their traveling salesmen at the close of the day's business important information which their men would have at the start of the next day's business quicker than a letter, by days in some cases, and much cheaper than the old rate of messages. Then the man away from home began to send his wife a night letter, which she read at breakfast the next morning. Business houses began to send appeals to customers by the night letter. Then the Western Union went after the business in earnest and now there are 12,000,000 night letters annually.

There is lots of psychology about the night letter. In the first place the Western Union figured that the business man who sat down in front of his pile of mail in the morning would give his first attention to the telegrams. This belief was communicated to other business men, and the business man found it was good logic. Now the use of the night letter has been developed until it is used for urging payment on accounts; used by politicians in the business of getting votes; used to ask contributions to war relief funds; used for placing business orders, and for a myriad other uses. It is a part of the American business system.

When it comes to the social use of the night letter, it was found that the psychology of the telegrams was again a factor. It had long been the custom for the woman who received a telegram to handle it with the fire tongs and to pray a few moments that the news was not so bad as it might be before she opened it. For telegrams formerly were used in emergencies socially, and the dread and fear of telegrams had to be overcome. This has been in a large sense achieved, and now wives and husbands who are separated send tens of thousands of telegrams every year, which wife or husband reads at breakfast and learns how the other half of the family fares.

Women's Fear of Telegrams

But the old-time fear of the telegram has not been altogether overcome by the night letter. Only this month, when the nation-wide use of husband reads at breakfast and learns how the other half of the family fares.

the night letter was suggested in connection with the celebration of Mother's Day on May 14, by which sons and daughters could send words of cheer to the "Old Folks at Home," it was suggested that the mothers would receive a fear along with the telegram which would counteract the words of cheer they would read when they opened it. It was at first suggested that special envelopes be used which would bear the words "This is a Mother's Day Telegram." This was discarded because it was too expensive. Special Mother's Day blanks were furnished, and the rest of the problem was solved by instructing all messenger boys delivering such messages to say to the recipient "Madam, this is a Mother's Day message." Telegram officials hope even this precaution will not be necessary in a year or two.

Telegraph officials believe that the business and social possibilities of the telegraph have only been tapped. They believe there will be more new uses and greater applications of the service. As the night letter was inaugurated in 1910 to supply a use for facilities at night, the day letter was started to use the "valleys" in the service facilities. There are "peaks" in the business at 10 o'clock in the morning, at noon, and at the closing of business around 4:30 o'clock. Between the "peaks" are valleys. The day letter of fifty words is sent during the "valley" period of business that follows the regular business messages. The charge is one-and-a-half times that of the night letter.

The night message is sent ahead of the night letter and behind the regular message. It is charged at the ten-word rate, as a regular message is, only at about two-thirds of the rate of the regular message.

Modern Cable Service

The Western Union has also installed modifications of cable service which corresponds closely to modifications in the land wire service. In addition to the fast regular cables there is the deferred half-rate service sent along when the regular messages do not keep the facilities busy. Then there is the cable service letter, based on a thirteen-word rate, and the weekend letter service, which is based on a twenty-five-word basis. These messages are filed at any time up to midnight Saturday night for delivery in any part of the world the following Monday morning. The money transfer service, the marine service, the messenger service, the commercial news service, and the time service are other ramifications by which the Western Union has made its service fit the requirement of business and of the public.

Following is the latest quarterly report of the Western Union, issued April 1:

	1916	1915
Total revenues	$14,390,372	$11,568,175
Maintenance repairs and reserved for depreciation	1,863,477	1,776,642
Other operating expenses, including rent of leased lines and taxes	8,870,305	7,618,070
Total expenses	$10,733,782	$9,394,712
Balance	$3,656,590	$2,173,463
Deduct Int. on bonded debt	332,963	334,300
Net income	$3,323,627	$1,839,163

Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union, said that the success of the night letter illustrated good business methods.

"We have telegraph service to sell," he said. "It was the same proposition as having any other business commodity to sell. We have put it in attractive packages. That's the explanation."
